Dear Selina,

I want to thank you for your unwavering support and encouragement . You have redefined my views on classroom management through the use of your strategies. I have used your strategies of influential language and it has helped tremendously. I am happier going into my classroom each day. I now use the point system that you told me about. Influential language and the point system has increased student engagement and materials brought to class. I have reached students who were not performing before. Some who were not bringing their books to class at all are now coming prepared to work. Students like getting points and hate losing points, so this system works really well for my students. I can't thank you enough for providing me with these tools of classroom management. I feel that I am making a difference in my classroom. I also believe I now have more power over the success of my students. I am looking forward to ending off the year much better than it started. Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Vranda Booker

Dear Ms. Booker,

Thank you for a wonderful visit to your classroom. I appreciate your commitment to helping ALL your students to perform at their best.

You're already using countdown, you say, they repeat, and public recognition successfully. I'm remembering that you said you want to get your students to pay attention and be engaged. I recall with pleasure that you've agreed to use the following strategies:

1. If they resist, you persist
2. Consistently rewarding good behavior (positive board lists, good news letter home, leave first, etc)

In addition, as per your request, I'm sending the Most Powerful Words and Phrases (Influential Language) to use with your students to get them to cooperate.

I applaud your decision and your determination to use these techniques so you can have the joy of seeing the students become more successful.

Helpfully,

Selina J. Jackson, M.A.
